DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claim 1-8, drawn to a method of inhibiting melanin synthesis comprising contacting melanocytes with an amount of zinc alpha-2-glycoprotein (ZAG) to effect said inhibition, classified in class 435, subclass 7.1. class 514, subclass 2.
- II. Claims 9-11 drawn to a composition comprising ZAG classified in class 530, subclass 350, class 536, subclass 23.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions of Group II and Group I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case, the ZAG composition could be used as a control in clinical trials for non-melanocyte related disorders.

Furthermore, searching all of the claims (i.e., both Groups) would invoke a burdensome search because the inventions have been classified separately. Thus, each invention has attained recognition in the art as a separate subject for inventive effort, and also a separate field of search. This would necessitate different searches in the patent and or non-patent literature and the consideration of different patentability issues

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for one group is not required for another group, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Species Elections for Groups I and II

A. Claims 1-11 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species of the form of ZAG:

- 1) polynucleotide, as contemplated in the specification and claimed
- 2) polypeptide, as contemplated in the specification

B. Claims 1-8 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species for the location in which melanocytes are contacted:

- 1) in vitro, as contemplated in the specification
- 2) in vivo, as contemplated in the specification and claimed

C. Claims 1-8 are generic to the following disclosed patentably distinct species for the method of administration of ZAG:

- 1) topically
- 2) systemically

The above species are independent or distinct because they comprise structurally distinct molecules and have different modes of operation and different effects. Further, each species would require different searches and the consideration of different patentability issues.

Art Unit: 1642

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species from each of group A, B, and C, even though this requirement is traversed. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103 of the other invention.

Applicant is advised that a response to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Note:

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this restriction requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
